Many people prefer to relax on private yachts and be able to travel at a pace of their own rather than pay more for a trip aboard an overcrowded cruise ship. This is the ultimate way to cruise in style, your ultimate luxury cruise. Private yacht charters are becoming more popular as they provide a means to enjoy an intimate as well as flexible vacation, while at the same time being pampered to your heart's delight along the way. Unlike on commercial cruise ships, the private yacht charter allows you to change your mind and stay that extra night on your favorite island or do whatever else you please.

Private Yachts Are The First Choice Of Honeymooners

Many honeymooners prefer the private yacht charter as do families who wish to have a reunion or wish to spend time together without the crowds, the hustle and bustle of large cruise liners. Most of all, when you choose a yacht charter with crew, you can be sure that your every whim will be catered to. Also, the private yacht charter captain acts also as a personal guide who can lead you to the most secluded beaches or the quietest anchorages to suit your individual tastes and preferences.

Though most cruise lines offer luxury in their cruise plans, there are some that push the limits and are often referred to as Luxury Cruise Lines. They go beyond the typical cruise line offerings and provide an experience that is above and beyond normal luxury concepts. Some of the notable luxury lines worth mentioning are Crystal Cruises, Regent Seven Seas Cruises, Seabourn Cruise Line, Silversea Cruises, and Windstar Cruises.

The service aboard these luxury cruise liners is amazing with more staff, exotic itineraries and all-inclusive service than you can imagine. You can expect almost telepathic service because crew and staff are trained to anticipate the guest's every whim and fancy while providing courteous and quick service. The luxury cruise ships are generally smaller than mainstream liners and typically cater to fewer than one hundred and fifty to just under four hundred guests. Crystal Cruises is the exception to this rule. It has three ships with a capacity of around nine hundred guests. Still, this is significantly less than what you would find on the crowded decks of the mainstream cruise lines.

Luxury cruise ships display high priced art, delicate china, rare woods as well as the finest fabrics and best in leather on board their liners and have expansive wine cellars as well as relatively bigger accommodation to provide the best of the best. A luxury cruise trip can cost between three hundred dollars to two thousand dollars per person per day and depends on the ship, length of cruise as well as type of accommodation and destination.

Cunard cruise line typifies the best in luxury cruises and provides relaxation with a level of pampering that makes them the first choice for the discerning traveler. With such amazing ships like the Queen Mary 2, Queen Elizabeth 2 and the soon to be completed Queen Victoria, you can expect their luxury cruises to be a unique experience, unmatched by any other ship in the world. The Queen Elizabeth 2 is renowned for catering to millionaires, royalty as well as celebrities and you will be transported to exotic destinations while indulging yourself in the ultimate in luxury aboard these famous ships.

The essence of luxury cruises lies in the element of fun, freedom and adventure combined with a liberal dose of indulgent service and unparalleled luxury that you can experience for a short spell of time. Regent Seven Seas Cruises is unique in luxury cruises in that it is the first cruise line to provide all-suite, all-balcony ships and is first also when it comes to providing Le Cordon Bleu restaurants at sea. In addition, it provides an all-inclusive value that includes gratuities, non-alcoholic beverages, and wines at dinner as well as an in-suite bar without having to pay extra for it.

For those that wish to experience a floating country club, the Oceania is a luxury liner that lays emphasis on excellence in cuisine, and is an entry-level luxury line whose ships travel to unique cruise destinations and have distinctive stateroom amenities as well as. The Silversea is the elite of the elite mid-sized all-suite ship whose privileged guests are served unparalleled cuisine with sophistication and intimacy. These luxury liners cater to anyone who desires the finer things of life"... love, laughter and untold luxury!
